Latest News From the Great Battle Between Labor and Capital at the Protected Steel Mills in Pennsylvania.

Homestead, Pa., July 21.—Such of the former employes of the Homestead steel works as do not apply for their old positions by 6 o'clock this evening are likely to be left out in the cold, as the officials of the company have announced that after that time they will give no preference to their old employes.

The number of the latter who have signified their intention of resuming work has been smaller than the Carnegie people anticipated, as they have stated all along that a majority of the men would be glad to get back to work as soon as they were given protection.

As yet, however, few applications have been received, and if work is to be resumed on a large scale it can only be by the introduction of non-union labor.

THE TIME GROWS SHORT.

Another Day May Bring About a Change in Affairs.

Pittsburg, July 21.—At 6 p. m. to-day the time fixed by the Carnegie Steel company for the return of their old men, will expire and the company will give no further opportunity to them. In spite of the fact that few, if any, of the old men have returned to work so far, the officials of the company to-day expressed themselves confident that many would signify their desire to go to work before the day is done.

Mr. Lovejoy has from the first insisted that two-thirds of their old men would return to work and this morning he was of the same opinion.

There will be no change in the time, the plans or policy of the company regarding the works or the men.

The officials say every chance for the men to return to work has been given and after to-night no further regard will be paid to the old men; their places will be filled and the mill started.

It may take a few days longer than was expected to get the repairs made, but it is asserted that the repairs are nearly completed and that in spite of the statements to the contrary the Homestead plant will be in operation before the week is out.

Mr. Lovejoy said this morning that the company meant what it said as to the time for the men to return, the intention to run the mills non-union and the ability to secure all the men needed.

He declined to go into any details, or to discuss the future intentions or policy of the company. He denied emphatically that there was any truth in the statement that the Duquesne plant would hereafter make steel rails, or that any changes in the mill, looking to that end, had been or would be made.

The Amalgamated people are confident there will be a firm front presented by the men to-day and that there will be no break. One of them said: "If we get through to-day all right, I believe there is no doubt about our winning the fight.

"If there is no general break we are safe. I would not be surprised if some few went to work, say not more than eight per cent., but that number would not be enough for the company to start with.

"We have every confidence the men will stand firm, but of course there are some men who get weak and may go to work. I believe we will win the fight, but we recognize to-day as a critical one and all efforts will be made to hold the men firm."

All alone, both in the way it acts, and in the way it's sold, is Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women.

It acts in this way:

If you're weak or "run-down," it builds you up; if you suffer from any of the painful disorders and derangements peculiar to your sex, it relieves and cures. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores flesh and strength. For all functional weaknesses and irregularities, it's a positive remedy. Hence, it's sold in this way:

It's guaranteed to give satisfaction, in every case, or the money paid for it is refunded.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets prevent and cure Sick and Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. They're the smallest, the cheapest, the easiest to take.

But all that would be nothing, if they weren't also the best to take.

THE CASE REVIEWED.

Hugh O'Donnell States the Case in Plain Language.

New York, July 21.—Complying with a request from the New York Herald for a statement in regard to the Homestead trouble, Hugh O'Donnell writes, under date of Homestead, July 15, reviewing the negotiations between the Carnegie company and the Amalgamated association which ended in the lock-out.

He attributes the rupture of good relations to the fact that Mr. Frick, the head of the concern, was determined to break up the labor organizations and for this purpose made unreasonable conditions.

Mr. O'Donnell then describes the formation of the advisory committee, and says: "All went well until Tuesday, July 6. The story of the arrival of the barges loaded with men bearing the brand of Pinkertonism, and their attempt to enter the works in the silent hours of the early morning, is already known in every household in this broad land.

"After the surrender we did our best to protect the Pinkertons, but were unable to cope with the angry workmen that filled every avenue. Those who participated in the assault were not the men who fought at the front during the day, but those who were furthest away when actual fighting was being done.

I have been asked to give my opinion as to how far force should be resorted to when difficulties arise between employer and employes. In my opinion force should never be resorted to except when life or property is in danger.

"I would advocate moral suasion. The Homestead outbreak was not an ordinary one. It was one of those affairs in which men participate only to accomplish injury to life and property without any definite object in view. Homestead is the abiding place of trained and skilled men who earn a livelihood in one of the greatest metal establishments in the world.

"Their interests are centered there and they were aroused when it became known that the Carnegie Steel company intended to import armed men into a peaceful community without sufficient cause. As to some of the better way of settling wage disputes, I think that conferences or arbitration should be resorted to.

"When both sides take a determined stand conferences are useless, and again, when one side shows a willingness to make certain concessions and the other side does not, we find ourselves in a dilemma. With such a feeling existing as I have cited I think arbitration the only solution to the problem.

"On the question of settling labor disputes by arbitration it may not be out of place to quote Andrew Carnegie. Mr. O'Donnell cites Mr. Carnegie's utterances in favor of arbitration and of the right of workmen to combine. He concludes as follows:

"It is worthy of note that the strained relations which exist at Homestead to-day between capital and labor have in no manner been brought about by any unreasonable demands nor unwise action upon the part of the workmen. The facts show that the latter have been unusually generous and reasonable in their endeavors to bring about an amicable settlement of the dispute."

TAKING A HAND.

The Republican National Committee Trying to Settle the Trouble.

Pittsburg, July 21.—Hugh O'Donnell says his destination on his recent mysterious mission was New York. What he accomplished, he believes will tend toward settling the strike.

He will not deny the suggestion that he consulted with the members of the national republican committee.

THEY DESERTED.

Non-Union Men Leave the Boat at the Locks.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 21.—At 9:25 o'clock this morning the tug Tide left her wharf at the foot of Smithfield street bound for Homestead.

An official of the Carnegie company was present and closely inspected the tickets held by 65 or 70 workmen who were on the boat. Eight horses and another large supply of provisions were also taken on board.

A report just received from Homestead states that the Tide had arrived at the mill landing but that not near the number of men disembarked that were on board when the boat left Pittsburg. It is likely that they deserted the boat as she passed through Lock No. 1.

WILL NOT QUIT WORK.

McKeesport Workingmen Will Remain at Their Posts

McKeesport, Pa., July 21.—The following letter was received for publication by the News:

"McKeesport, Pa., July 21.

"Editor Daily News: The Pittsburg Times of the 20th inst. published an untruthful article, saying the workmen in the National rolling mills of McKeesport were contemplating quitting work out of sympathy for the workmen of the Carnegie company.

"Much as we sympathize with the locked-out men of Homestead, there being no grievance of any kind in the mills connected with this company, we cannot afford to, neither have we any desire to quit work, having no cause to do so. Our sympathy will be extended in a financial manner. A. Duffy, J. D. Cowan, A. D. Keister, Albert Maxwell."

WILL NOT SURRENDER.

Counsel for the Strikers Decide to Hold Off For a Time.

Pittsburg, July 21.—Counsel for the accused strikers have decided that they shall not surrender to-day. Attorney Brennan has gone to Homestead to see Gov. Pattison.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 21.—At 9:45 o'clock this morning Bernard Ruger, aged 52, of 181 McGobbon street, Williamsburg, after making an unsuccessful attempt to shoot his wife, sent a bullet through his own head. He died almost immediately.

WESTERN LEAGUE IS DEAD

Eastern League Scheme Has Burst.

Toledo is To-Day Without a Ball Club.

All Efforts at a Revival Have Failed and the Cranks Will Have to Play Croquet—General Sporting.

As the Frenchmen in de Mash say: "She's Bu's'."

The Western league corpse was interred at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, July 21.

The league had been dead for some time, but there was a hope in some quarters that new life might be infused into it, and by doubling up with the remnants of the Eastern, an organization could be kept up.

It was notg ood base ball, and when the situation was thoroughly understood Toledo concluded to disband.

Troy wired this morning that it was too late in the season to join a new league.

Erie wired that no grounds could be secured.

With Toledo and Indianapolis it was a ground hog case, and both will disband.

An effort will be made next year to revive the game, and in all probability Gus Schmelz will be at the head of the Toledo club. Gus will be welcomed to this city, and under the management of a man like Schmelz, much of the trouble of this year will not occur.

Many of the Toledo boys are now figuring by wire for positions with the Southern league. Dewald will probably finish with Memphis. He is a goodm an for any club.

Chicago, July 20.—Advices have recently been received at the headquarters of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in this city, to the effect that Queen Lilluokalani, of the Hawaiian islands, has become a convert to the temperance cause.

She not only pays the license imposed on the temperance coffee house which the union has opened in her capital city, but she has also banished spirituous liquors of all kinds from her table and does not allow them to be served at her state receptions. She has also contributed to the cause of morality in the islands by prohibiting the public performance of a lascivious native dance, which was formerly very popular with her subjects.

Will Open the Democratic Campaign This Fall—Harmony in the Ranks.

New York, July 21.—Through the instrumentality of Ex-Governor Campbell and Joe Dowling the opening of the Ohio campaign was arranged for to-day.

The last Saturday in September is the date and Woodsdale Island park the place. The speakers will be Adlai E. Stevenson, and Congressman Bourke Cockron. The former formally agreed to be present and the presence of the later was vouched for by ex-Secretary Whitney.

ANARCHIST PLOT.

Attempt to Blow Up Public Buildings.

The People of Paris Once More Alarmed at the Possibility of Continued Trouble.

Paris, July 21.—The Figaro asserts that an anarchist plot has been discovered to destroy the Bourse and the Palace of Justice with dynamite.

The police give no confirmation of the story, but it is known that ever since the execution of Ravachol the authorities have been keeping a vigilant lookout for any attempt at outrage. It is known that Ravachol up to the moment of his death expected that an attempt would be made to rescue him, and it is believde he had secret information to that effect from his fellow anarchists in Paris.

The authorities have learned, it is said, that there was actually a scheme to rescue Ravachol, or at least interfere with his execution, and that it was only defeated by the thorough preparations made before the execution to prevent the access of undesirable persons to Montbrison.

Notwithstanding the rumors of anarchist vengeance the authorities are convinced that the execution of Ravachol has had a good effect and that many of the anarchists have been cowed at least into silence by the evidence that the authorities were not afraid to inflict the extreme penalty upon the arch-dynamiter and murderer.

The number of informers has greatly increased and the police are receiving revelations relative to the dynamite outrages of last spring which would have been invaluable at that time, but are not now of much consequence.

It is from one of these informers that the authorities are said to have received the story of the plot to blow up the Bourse and the Palace of Justice, and it is also reported that they are not decided as to whether the statement is true or whether it is a canard, invented to gain credit and reward for the informer.

GEN. BUTLER.

He Does Not Think Carnegie Can Be Forced to Return.

Boston, July 21.—To a reporter yesterday, Gen. Butler said, as to the extradition of Andrew Carnegie, that he could not see how a man could be taken in a foreign country for acts said to be done in this country during his absence.

The general was very strong in expressing his conviction that legislation should be had that would cause the disbandment of the Pinkertons and the prevention of such riots hereafter.

Personally he had had no correspondence with the strikers and he had heard nothing whatever as to his being engaged as counsel.

RAILROAD WRECK.

Utica, N. Y., July 21.—In the collision last night near Norwood, N. Y., between the Chicago and Portland train on the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg, and the New York vestibule train for Saranac lake, there were six passengers bruised.

George H. Barbour, wife and daughter, of Detroit, were among them. Mr. Barbour's hip was bruised and Mrs. Barbour received a cut on the head. Engineer McCormick had his foot hurt. The wreck was cleared in an hour.

REPRIEVED.

Columbus, July 21.—Gov. McKinley acted upon the recommendation of the pardon board and reprieved Murderers Craig and McCarthy until September 7, so as to give the board further time to investigate the cases. The next meeting of the board is September 1, at which time the board will make its report on the cases.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Mason City, Ia., July 21.—The Mason City soap, lard and oil works were destroyed by fire last night. The fire originated in the boiler room. The works were owned by C. W. Londro and were the largest of the kind in the state. Loss, $35,000; partially insured.

DEFEATED.

Cincinnati, July 21.—The water works scheme was defeated at the polls yesterday by 11,000 majority.

HE WILL RESIGN.

Secretary Charles Foster to Quit the Cabinet.

Such is the Report from Inside Sources.

He is Still Angry With the Ohio Delegates

For the Way They Voted at Minneapolis.

Probable That a New Man Will Soon be Called on to Juggle the Monthly Debt Statement of the United States.

New York, July 21.—A special dispatch to the Times from Columbus, O., says information of a nature so direct that its authority cannot be questioned was inadvertently disclosed to the Times correspondent yesterday, to the effect that Charles Foster, secretary of the treasury, contemplated resigning from office, as the result of the conduct of Ohio at Minneapolis.

It is brought here by a state official whose duties require a virtually constant attendance at the treasury and whose relations with its secretary as an Ohioan are of a most intimate and social character. In the heat of the Ohio man's anger, he went to the president and said:

"I feel as though I owe you my resignation and if you will accept it I will present it now."

Mr. Harrison was not inclined to listen then and he requested the secretary to reconsider what was merely a verbal solicitation to be relieved from natural embarrassment. It is understood that the resignation is still pending, but will be considered as soon as certain embarrassments are out of the way.

MISSOURI DEMOCRATS.

Stone Nominated on the Nineteenth Ballot.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 21.—The second day's session of the state democratic convention opened with a call for the fourteenth ballot for the gubernatorial nomination.

It showed a slight gain for Stone. The 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th ballots followed rapidly, with Stone still leading. The 19th ballot was begun, but before the call passed out of the C's a break to the leader was shown, and in ten minutes more ex-Congressman W. J. Stone, of Vernon county, was nominated, thus ending the longest contest of the character known to Missouri politics.

A recess was then taken until 4:30 p. m., when the convention re-assembled. Candidates were placed in nomination for Lieutenant governor as follows: John B. O'Meara, St. Louis; Jefferson Pollard, St. Louis; A. J. Seay, Dent county; A. W. Flores, Nodaway county; W. F. Dittle, Pettis county; Andrew Mackey, Chariton county.

On the third ballot O'Meara was nominated.

For secretary of state and auditor, R. A. Lesur and J. M. Sieburt, respectively, had no opposition and were nominated by acclamation.

One ballot settled the state treasurership. Lon V. Stephens, of Cooper county, present incumbent, receiving the nomination.

Four candidates were placed in nomination for attorney-general. R. F. Walker, J. M. Wood, S. P. Parks and H. C. Timmons. On the fourth ballot R. F. Walker was nominated.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS.

Judge Leonard Hackney Placed on the Ticket.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 21.—The democratic state central committee met here last nigh to select a candidate for the supreme coat to fill the vacancy on the ticket caused by the death of Judge New.

There were several candidates for the position. Judge Leonard Hackney, of Shelby county, led on the first ballot and gained on the second and third, and was finally made the unanimous choice of the committee.

He has been a lawyer of high standing for 15 years and is regarded as the possessor of one of the best legal minds in the state.

Just before the meeting adjourned the committeemen made reports for their respective districts and all agreed that the campaign had never been more favorable to the party.

DROWNED WHILE YACHTING.

Two Brothers Meet Death in Their Naptha Launch.

New York, July 21.—Robert and Ernest Soltau, brothers, engaged in the India rubber trade in New York and Hamburg, started in a naptha launch from New York for Long Beach, L. I., Monday. The launch was found bottom up yesterday on the Rockaway beach. It is supposed the brothers were drowned. They were quite wealthy. Robert was married and his widow and three children are at Long Beach. Ernest was a bachelor.

WOULD NOT TAKE THEM.

Fostoria, O., July 21.—(Special.)—Blair & Co., the New York bankers, who purchased Fostoria sewer bonds of a face value of $168,000 at a premium of $10,500, have backed down and the council has declared their indemnity deposit of $500 forfeited. The clerk was instructed to open negotiations with other houses for the sale of the bonds.

ST JOHNS' FIRE.

Engineers Going in to Clear up the Wreck.

Halifax, N. S., July 21.—Sir John Ross received a cable dispatch from the imperial authorities yesterday ordering him to send a company of royal engineers to St. Johns, N. F. They are required there to blow down the walls which are either dangerous or difficult to remove by ordinary means. The number of families burned out is 1,874, making 9,000 people rendered homeless by the great fire.

TO SEND THEM HOME.

Inspection is Over and the Soldiers Will Return.

Pittsburg, July 21.—An officer of the Twelfth (Scranton) regiment, who came into the city this afternoon, states that inquiries were made from military headquarters this morning regarding the number of cars that would be required to transport the regiment home. This is taken as an indication that Gov. Pattison and Gen. Snowden have decided to reduce the military force at Homestead.

CLEVELAND AND STEVENSON

The Standard Bearers of Democracy,

Notified of the Action of the Convention.

A Splendid Address by the Ex-President.

Cheers for Frances and the Baby.

Enthusiasm Boiled Over, and the Campaign of Education Was Opened Under Auspicious Circumstances.

New York, July 21.—Long before dusk last night people began to congregate in what, an hour later, had become a large throng in the streets and avenues which bound Madison Square garden.

The struggle with the police for places near the doors was constant and vigorous until 7:45 p. m., when the doors swung open.

Meantime the members of the reception committee had driven to the home of ex-Secretary of the Navy Whitney, where they took Mr. Cleveland in a carriage which was immediately driven to the Manhattan club where the national and notification committee was waiting. They were joined by others of the reception committee who had escorted Mr. Stevenson hither from the Hoffman house.

The three committees with the candidates at once entered carriages and were driven to Madison Square garden, where their arrival was marked by an elaborate display of fireworks. The party alighted and entered the hall amid cheers.

As the candidates passed inside more than 15,000 people were waiting for them.

The assembly was a truly democratic one, the admission tickets being exclusively confined to the stage and boxes, and the vast ampitheater being thrown open to the general public.

At exactly 8:20 there was a little commotion in the rear of the stage, and a moment later the committee entered, headed by the Hon. Perry Belmont, who walked arm in arm with Gen. Stevenson. Instantly there was a cry, "Here they come," and as the crowd recognized the vice presidential candidate the vast building fairly trembled with loyal democratic cheers.

Gen. Stevenson bore his honors modestly, and, bowing his acknowledgements, gave way to Gov. Flower, who entered a moment later and received a flattering welcome from the New York democracy.

Of course the great ovation of the evening was reserved for Grover Cleveland. As he entered the hall, and ere he had scarce crossed the portal of the stage entrance, a sharp eye from the rear gallery 300 feet away, recognized his familiar form, and the shrill cry of "Here comes Cleveland," was the signal for a demonstration that Grover Cleveland has not witnessed since 1888.

Of course the presidential candidate received the ovation with his usual stolidity, but the very modesty of the great democratic leader seemed to excite his admirers to greater effusion.

When silence was finally restored Chairman Wm. L. Wilson, of the notification committee, stepped to the front of the stage and said:

MR. WILSON.

He Introduced the Ceremonies With a Neat Speech.

Mr. Cleveland—We bring you to-night a message from the democratic party. We come as a committee from its national convention representing every constituency in the country, to give you official notification that you have been chosen as its candidate for the office of president of the United States.

We are also charged with the duty of presenting you with the platform of principles adopted by that convention. This platform contains a full and explicit declaration of the position of the national democratic party on the great political issues of the day; but in all its utterances it is merely a development of one great principle, that whatever governments and laws can do for a people must be done for all the people without precedence of section or grades of citizenship.

It is a dangerous thing for a political party to commit its existence after the work which called it into being has been accomplished. It will inevitably pass as the political organization against which we contend has already passed, into the service of the great special interests which everywhere try to secure political power for their own advantage. Of the present policies of that party it may be truly said that they all tend to the centralization of political power in the federal government and the centralization of wealth in favored classes. Against both tendencies we fight, as against enemies of our freedom. As guardians of that freedom we plant ourselves upon the principle that the necessities of government are beginning and the necessities of government are the ending of just taxation. Whoever goes beyond this increases the power of government at the expense of the liberties of the people. The government that deals with the citizens at long range and through officials not chosen by himself will become his master. The government that is carried on beneath his own eye, by his own chosen servants, and within reach of his own regulating and punishing arm, that government can be kept his servant.

Yet we have but recently and barely escaped a successful effort to strike down the government that stands nearest the citizen, and to strip from the people in the states that right preservative of all other rights, the right of holding their own representatives.

Such, sir, are some of the issues of the campaign on which we are about to enter. They go to the foundation of our liberty. In this great contest your party has summoned you to be its leader. Four years ago in the mid-career of a service that well deserved the highest honors your countrymen could bestow, as we feel sure it will receive the highest encomiums that history can award, you were struck down because as a democrat you could make no terms with those who wished to plunder the people's treasury, or those who sought to perpetuate the passions of civil strife. Your countrymen will right that wrong. They have seen an attempt to turn the gratitude of a great nation into an electioneering fund for political party, and service to that party in the conflicts of peace count for more than service to the country in the conflicts of war. They have seen every power of the federal administrations passionately used to destroy free elections in the states. And seeing all this they have lost no opportunity in the past four years to honor your administration; and now, sir, we put into your hands the commission of which we are bearers. It is the gravest call to duty our fellow democrats can make, but we believe we can assure you that there are no "weak, weary or despondent democrats" in the ranks of our party to-day, and that with the people's cause as our cause, we doubt not, you will lead us to a victory in which the principles of our party shall gloriously triumph, and the welfare of our country shall be mightily promoted. Cheers for Frankie and Ruth.

During Mr. Wilson's address Mrs. Cleveland, who had been detained, strove to enter the hall unobserved, but the audience caught sight of her, and fairly went wild with enthusiasm. In the very midst of Mr. Wilson's speech three cheers were given for Mrs. Cleveland, and then a voice from the gallery proposed "Three cheers for Ruth," the enthusiasm reached such height that the chairman was obliged momentarily to suspend. Mr. Cleveland's visage darkened with displeasure; but even his frown was powerless to check the enthusiasm of American chivalry, and it was fully a minute before that enthusiasm exhausted itself.

At the conclusion of Chairman Wilson's address the secretary read the following formal notification letter to Mr. Cleveland:

THE NOTIFICATION.

To Grover Cleveland, New York:

As members of the notification committee, delegated by the national democratic convention, which assembled in Chicago June 21, it is our agreeable duty to inform you that upon a single ballot, you were unanimously nominated for the presidency of the United States.

Nothing could evince the affection and confidence in which you are held by the democratic party more positively than the fact that you have been three times made its candidate for that office. Your devotion to the principles of the party of Thomas Jefferson, your fidelity to every trust reposed in you by the people, your courageous, conservative and exemplary administration when chief executive of the United States, and the prosperity of the country under that administration have won for you the respect of every citizen.

In the maintenance of the doctrine which you have so clearly expounded and so consistently advocated, and which forms the basis of the declaration of principles formulated by the democratic convention, which has again placed you in nomination, rests the hope of the people for constitutional government. They turn now to the democratic party, that the blessings of civic and industrial liberty may be secured to them, and in response to the people's demand, that party has chosen for its leader him whose public record conveys the guarantee that the will of the people will not be thwarted.

It is then not only with a sense of profound personal satisfaction, but also with the assurance that your nomination is welcomed by every man who feels of the burden of unjust taxation and the distress of unwarranted legislative interference with the rights of the citizen, that we inform you of the action of the national democratic convention and submit herewith its declaration of principles. Firmly believing that there is no safe repository for the liberties of the people, and the welfare of the nation, than the hands of a democratic administration, we most heartily congratulate the country upon the opportunity presented by your candidacy for a return to the methods and measures of the party which has, and will ever administer the government for the good of our country and in the interest of the entire people.

That our cause—the people's cause—will triumph we have no doubt; and judging the future by the past, the administration which you will give to the people of the United States will be directed by wisdom, statesmanship, integrity and patriotism, regard with the same pride and pleasure and will cause your fellow democrats to your future career as president of this great republic that they now enjoy in the remembrance of your former administration.

At the conclusion of the formal letter, Mr. Cleveland faced Chairman Wilson and said:

CLEVELAND'S ADDRESS.

Reply to the Address of the Notification Committee.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The message you deliver from the national democracy arouses within me emotions which would be well nigh overwhelming if I did not recognize here assembled the representatives of a great party who must share with me the responsibility your mission invited. I find much relief in the reflection that I have been selected merely to stand for the enforcement of supremacy of which all who have any right to claim democratic fellowship, must constantly and persistently labor.

Our party responsibility is indeed great. We assume a momentous obligation to our countrymen when, in return for their trust and confidence, we promise them a rectification of their wrongs and a better realization of the advantages which are due to them under our free and beneficent institutions.

But if our responsibility is great our party is strong. It is strong in its sympathy with the needs of its insistence upon the exercise of governmental powers strictly within the constitutional permission the people have granted, and in its willingness to risk its life and hope upon the people's intelligence and patriotism.

Never has a great party, intent upon the promotion of right and justice, had better incentive for effort than is now presented to us.

Turning our eyes to the plain people of the land, we see them burdened as consumers with a tariff system that unjustly and relentlessly demands from them in the purchase of the necessaries and comforts of life, an amount scarcely met by the wages of hard and steady toil—while the exactions thus wrung from them, build up and increase the fortunes of those for whose benefit this injustice is perpetrated.

We see the farmer listening to the delusive story that fills his mind with visions of advantage, while his pocket is robbed by the stealthy hand of high protection.

Our workingmen are still told the tale often repeated in spite of its demonstrated falsity that the existing protective tariff is a boon to them, and that under its beneficent operation their wages must increase—while as they listen scenes are enacted in the very abiding place of high protection that mock the bones of toil and attest the tender mercy the workingman receives from those made selfish and sordid by unjust governmental favoritism.

We oppose earnestly and stubbornly the theory upon which our opponents seek to justify and uphold existing tariff laws. We need not base our attack upon questions of constitutional permission or legislative power. We denounce this theory upon the highest possible grounds, when we contend that in present conditions its operation is unjust, and that laws enacted in accordance with it are unequitable and unfair.

Against Forced Contributions.

Ours is not a destructive party. We are not at enmity with the rights of any of our citizens. All are our countrymen. We are not recklessly heedless of any American interests; nor will we abandon our regard for them; but invoking the love of fairness and justness which belongs to true Americanism, and upon whom our constitution rests, we insist that no plan of tariff legislation shall be tolerated which has for its object and purpose a forced contribution from the earnings and income of the mass of our citizens to swell directly the accumulations of a favored few; nor will we permit a pretended solicitude for American labor or any other specious pretext of benevolent care for others, to blind the eyes of the people, to the selfish schemes of those who seek through the aid of unequal tariff laws, to gain unearned and unreasonable advantages at the expense of their fellows.

We have also assumed in our covenant with those whose support we invite, the duty of opposing to the death another avowed scheme of our adversaries, which, under the guise of protecting the suffrage, covers but does not conceal, a design thereby to perpetuate the power of a party afraid to trust its continuance to the untrammeled and intelligent votes of the American people. We are pledged to resist the legislation intended to complete this scheme, because we have not forgotten the saturnalia of fraud and brutal control which followed another because we know that the managers of a party which did not scruple to rob the people of a president, would not hesitate to use the machinery created by such legislation, to revive corrupt instrumentalities for partisan purposes, because an attempt to enforce such legislation would rekindle animosites where peace and hopefulness now prevail; because such an attempt would replace prosperous activity with discouragement throughout a large section of our country, and would menance everywhere in the land, the rights reserved to the states and to the people, which underlie the safeguards of American liberty.

I shall not attempt to specify at this time other objects and aims of democratic endeavor which add inspiration to our mission. True to its history and its creed, our party will respond to the wants of the people within safe lines and guided by enlightened statesmanship. To the troubled and impatient within our membership we commend continued, unswerving allegiance to the party whose principles, in all times past, have been found sufficient for them and whose aggregate wisdom and patriotism their experience teaches can always be trusted.

In a tone of partisanship which befits the occasion, let me say to you as equal partners in the campaign upon which we to-day enter, that the personal fortunes of those to whom you have entrusted your banners are only important as they are related to the fate of the principles they represent, and to the party which they lead.

An Appeal for Hard Work.

I cannot, therefore, forbear reminding you and all those attached to the democratic party or supporting the principles which we profess, that defeat in the pending campaign followed by the consummation of the legislative schemes our opponents contemplate, and accompanied by such other incidents of their success as might more firmly fix their power, would present a most discouraging outlook for future democratic supremacy and for the accomplishment of the objects we have at heart.

Moreover, every sincere democrat must believe that the interests of his country are deeply involved in the victory of our party in the struggle that awaits us. Thus patriotic solicitude exalts the hope of partisanship and should intensify our determination to win success.

This success can only be achieved by systematic and intelligent effort on the part of all enlisted in our cause. Let us tell the people plainly what we believe and how we propose to serve the interests of the entire country, and then let us, after the manner of true democracy, rely upon the thoughtfulness and patriotism of our fellow countrymen.

It only remains for me to say to you, in advance of the more formal response to your message, that I obey the command of my party and confidently anticipate that an intelligent and earnest presentation of our cause will insure a popular indorsement of the action of the body you represent.

STEPHEN WHITE.

He Addresses the Vice-Presidential Candidate, Hon. A. E. Stevenson.

Immediately after Mr. Cleveland had resumed his seat, Hon. Stephen V. White of California, advanced, and facing Gen. Adlai E. Stevenson, who also arose, addressed him as follows:

Mr. Stevenson—The democratic party, recognizing your worth and popularity, has selected you as its candidate for vice-president of the United States, and this committee, in obedience to the instructions of the national convention, by which it was appointed, is present to notify you of your nomination.

The great organization in whose battles for the public welfare you have borne so conspicuous a part, has manifested its approval of the enlightened and progressive administration with which you were for four years prominently identified. (Applause.) That period of our country's history has been compared by the American people with the record of the presidential term which is approaching completion. To the contrast thus appearing the democracy turns proudly and with confidence. (Cheers.)

Time has furnished ample opportunity to study all pending questions of importance, and a general sentiment protests against an extravagant and partial tariff, against federal control of elections, demands governmental reform and insures democratic victory. Candid in our platform, rejoicing in the character and statesmanship of our chosen leaders, conscious of the honesty and ability of those upon whose suffrages we must rely, we are prepared and anxious to meet the issue. We have nothing to fear and can have nothing to regret. The unanimous expression of the committee will be presented by the secretary. (Cheers.)

The Vice-Presidential Notification.

The secretary read the following formal letter of the committee notifying Mr. Stevenson of his nomination:

Adlai Stevenson, Illinois:

The national democratic convention, which assembled in Chicago June 21, has directed us, the notification committee, to inform you of your nomination upon the first ballot by that convention for the vice-presidency of the United States. We are able to assure you that honor has been conferred because the democratic party has recognized in you a leader whose every public act has strengthened the party in the respect of the people. As an officer of the democratic administration, as a pleader for democratic principles, as a statesman who has sought to protect all the people in all their rights, you have long enjoyed the esteem of your immediate constituents and the confidence of the country at large. The declaration of principles formulated by the convention which has placed you in nomination is herewith submitted, and it will, we have every reason to believe, from your public and private utterances, meet with your approval and invite your zealous advocacy.

In advising you of the action of the convention, we beg to convey the assurance of our personal respect and good will.

We are, sir, yours respectfully.

William L. Wilson, Chairman.

He expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred on him; spoke of the late democratic administration, and expressed his consideration of the importance of the position to which he was nominated, spoke of the coming campaign of reason, and promised more formally hereafter to express his views on the questions enumerated in the platform.

Immediately after General Stevenson's speech the meeting adjourned, and the candidates repaired to the Manhattan club where any who chose and could, entered and greeted them with handshaking.

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Mountain Outlaws Are Still Making Trouble.

Wallace, Idaho, July 21.—Word reached here last night that Gov. Toole, of Montana, had ordered out several companies of militia of that state to guard the border between Idaho and Montana and prevent the troops from entering his domain.

This is done, if at all, under the impression that the troops intend to run over the line to arrest prisoners. It is regarded here as an extremely doubtful expedient, as these armed desperadoes now in the mountain fastnesses will flee into Montana and attempt to escape arrest and then bring on serious trouble between United States troops and the Montana militia.

Gen. Curtis says that he knows of no such order on the part of Gov. Toole. Requisitions are out for several men who are known to be in Montana, and they will be arrested, and among these are Breen and Dallas.

Ned Walters, a raging anarchist and socialist, who has been hiding at the Sunset mine for a few days, was brought in yesterday and lodged in the guard house here. Advocate General George Parsons has been engaged in examining cases of men confined here to ascertain whether there are any serious charges against them. He discharged six yesterday.

TWO SMALL FIRES.

One in the Criterion, the Other in the Base Hit.

GLANNTOWN SUFFERS

From a Good Sized Fire Early this Morning.

Word received by the Bee to-day gives information of a destructive fire which occurred at Glanntown, a short distance from Sylvania, early this morning. The postoffice and store, a dwelling house and livery stable and contents are said to be totally destroyed. This will be a serious loss to the thriving village.

MILITIA INSPECTION

Will Occur on Tuesday Instead of Monday Evening.

Col. Bunker yesterday issued an order for an inspection of Companies A, C and H of the Sixteenth regiment at Memorial hall next Monday evening. The hall being engaged for the address by Hon. Will Smoke at the Expense of Mr. Hallet —The Reason.

Fire Chief Wall this morning received two boxes of fine cigars from John Hallet, owner of the building occupied by the Van Noorden clothing store on Summit street, adjoining the Neuhausel block which was recently destroyed by fire. Mr. Hallet presented the boys with the cigars as a slight token of his appreciation of their splendid efforts in saving his building.

THE ANNUAL PICNIC

Of the German Pioneer Society Largely Attended—Off for Put-in-Bay.

The German Pioneer society, of Toledo, and many of their friends, went to Put-in-Bay to-day on the City of Toledo. There were between seven and eight hundred people aboard and judging from appearances, smiling faces and great big lunch baskets, the occasion will be a jolly one. Most of Toledo's prominent Germans were among the passengers. The City band will furnish the music for the day. C. G. Wenzel is president of the organization, and P. J. Mettler, secretary.

SOLD WHISKY

To Her Husband Against Protest, and a Suit Follows.

In common pleas court to-day Anna Fitzgerald sued Albert D. Orcutt and the Grasser & Brand Brewing company to recover $5,000 damages.

She alleges that Orcutt keeps a saloon, and that she gave him due notice to cease selling intoxicants to her husband, Patrick Fitzgerald, whom she claims spend all of his money and time in the saloon and fails to support her.

The Grasser & Brand Brewing company is made party to the suit, in lieu of the fact that the petition sets forth that this company owns the building in which the saloon is conducted.

THE CIRCUS.

Attractions for the City and Country on Saturday.

Barnum & Bailey's circus will be in Toledo on Saturday, and there will be the usual outpouring of the people. The first exhibition at the tents will be given at 2 p. m. Doors will be open at 1 p. m. to give all a chance to be seated. The circus proper includes three rings, in which will be put all the best pictures of the circus and hippodrome, with more than a dozen clowns, bareback-riders, equilibrists, jugglers, trapeze performers, and novelties that even Barnum & Bailey have not attempted before. Among them will be fox chases, new hippodrome races, a pack of English racing hounds etc. The great novelty, however, will be Imro Kiralfy's brilliant pageant, illustrating the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus, which is given on a stage 450 feet long and participated in by 1,200 people, nearly 500 shapely ballet girls being a feature of this grand spectacle.

COMMISSIONER LEWIS

Sends a Communication to Mr. Murphy's Assistant.

This morning Miss Jo Skehan, assistant superintendent of the Free Employment office, was presented by Appointee Smith with a communication from Commissioner of Labor Lewis, wherein she is commanded to hereafter act under the instructions of Mr. Smith.

Asked by a Bee what she proposed doing, Miss Skehan was non-committal.

"I propose," she said, "obeying the instructions of whoever is superintendent."

"Which will you recognize as superintendent, Mr. Murphy or Mr. Smith?"

"I'm not in this fight at all. Let them fight it out. I've nothing to say."

Miss Skehan was appointed as a democrat under a democratic administration, and as such will undoubtedly abide by the fortunes of the present incumbent.

A CHANCE FOR FIFERS.

First Ward Drum Corps Lacking the Blowers.

The First Ward Democratic Drum corps is making splendid progress so far as the drummers are concerned. The boys handle the sticks in first-class style, and promise to reach further perfection. A drum corps without fifers, however, is not satisfactory. The corps has been supplied with four fifes, but as yet have not been able to find proper persons to manipulate them. Here's an excellent opportunity for a few of the faithful to distinguish themselves. The leaders of the corps, Joe Scharf and Dennis Lovett, are at the First ward's wigwam, on Erie street, near Stickney avenue, nearly every evening, and will be glad to make the additions noted if the boys with a good supply of wind will put in an appearance. The right material will be welcomed, and, if necessary, properly remunerated.

To-day Mayor Emmick, through the advice of City Solicitor Read, notified City Auditor Pheatt, in view of the pending trouble in the free employment office, not to pay Superintendent Murphy this month's salary. The city solicitor, it may be remarked, is Mr. Smith's attorney in this case. Talk about gall.

THE BEST ONE YET.

The Twelfth Annual Lawn Fete Given by Ford Post.

Every year of the dozen last past, has witnessed a carnival or lawn fete given under the auspices of Ford post, G. A. R., in East Toledo. All of these have been successful and each time improvements are made, and amusements provided on a larger scale. The twelfth annual fete opened last night in the spacious grounds at the head of Bridge street, and eclipsed all former occasions of the kind. The brilliantly lighted grounds, the band and dance music, the fireworks, and nearly a thousand people in gala attire, and all out for a good time, presented a gorgeous spectacle. A mammoth dancing pavilion at one end of the ground was crowded with young people whirling through the mazy dance, while their elders contented themselves with watching the fireworks and partaking of the dainty refreshments that are dispensed by the ladies.

The fete will be held to-night and to-morrow night, and there will be special attractions, one of them being a balloon ascension and parachute drop. Mark E. Sibley camp, Sons of Veterans, were out in full force last night and the officers of Ford post express thanks to the drum corps for its timely and welcome assistance.

THE STAR COURSE.

Arranging for the Popular Events Next Year.

The Star Course lecture committee of the Y. M. C. A. met at the rooms this morning and discussed the work for the coming season. It was practically decided to hold a double course of entertainments, each course to consist of six entertainments. A proposition was made to the committee by Prof. Whiting, who offered to make an engagement for one of the entertainments, to consist of a concert given by his chorus, the Toledo Phil-Harmonic club, and the Phil-Harmonic club of Detroit. This proposition was very favorably considered, and negotiations are pending. From the following list the course will be selected, with possibly some changes:

Lectures and readings—Russell Conwell, J. P. DeMott, Frank Bristol, Leland T. Powers, Col. Sanford, P. W. Henson, H. H. Emmett, Frank Smith.

IN LABOR CIRCLES.

The Machinists Transact Routine Business.

International Association of Machinists met at Turley's hall last night and transacted routine business only. They entertained, in good style, two visitors from Detroit, and discussed the coming excursion, which bids fair to be a grand affair.

The Electric Street Car Workers' Union has adopted the following on the Homestead strike:

Whereas, The workers in the iron and steel mills of Millionaire Carnegie and his associates at Homestead, have been locked out because they will not accept an unjust reduction in wages, and the said Carnegie by his representative, H. C. Frick, now refuses to confer with the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers or to recognize union labor, and

Whereas, The employment or control of a force of armed men by a private individual or corporation to do his or their bidding is in our estimation in direct opposition to the spirit of the American constitution and a menace to our republican form of government, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Electric Street Car Workers' union of Toledo, do most heartily condemn and denounce the managers of the Carnegie steel works for the employment of the Pinkertons; further be it

Resolved, That we do sincerely sympathize with the locked-out workingmen and their families, and recommend to all union workmen the necessity of refusing to handle the product of any such mill as the Carnegie management apparently wish to operate; further be it

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Electric Street Car Workers' union, that a copy of the same be sent to Homestead, and that copies be furnished to the newspapers for publication.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

John Abbott, an Electric Workman,

Has an Experence He Will Not Want Again—Thrown From a Falling Pole.

A pole-climber for the Western Electric Light company, named John Abbott, had a most miraculous escape from death while at work out on Broadway yesterday yesterday afternoon.

The gang of men under William Wise, as foreman, was setting a pole. Abbott went up to the top for some purpose, when the immense piece of timber tottered and went over. People who were passing, and his fellow workmen, looked upon the sight horror stricken. It seemed that no earthly power could save the unfortunate man from a terrible death. With wonderful presence of mind Abbott climbed down the falling pole at a lively rate of speed. When about twenty feet from the earth the pole lurched and threw the plucky climber clear across the street onto the curb-stone.

An instant later the big pole crashed to the earth, not six inches from the prostrate man. His associates ran to Abbott's side and found him apparently more dead than alive. He was carried into a house near by and medical aid summoned. The most extraordinary feature of the accident is that the man escaped permanent injury, and will be about again in a week or two.

WILL GOSLINE, OF TOLEDO,

Wins the Tennis Championship from Detroit.

A Rattling Game Decides the Victory —The Score and Something About the Event.

Yesterday at the Detroit Athletic club's tennis tournament Will Gosline, of Toledo, won the championship singles from the Detroit club.

The Detroit Tribune speaking of the event says that one of the features of the tournament was the bringing out of the new star, Gosline, who bids fair to shine right along side of those of the first magnitude. The D. A. C. has been compelled to surrender the championship in singles and with it the solitaire diamond, which was donated last year by Messrs. Sturgeon & Warren, on the conditions that it should be won twice at the D. A. C. open tournament to ensure permanent possession. Mr. Gosline, the prodigy from Toledo, is the victor, winning his last and final set and with it the match and championship from George Codd yesterday afternoon. Mr. Gosline is in his nineteenth year, weighs 124 pounds and stands about 5 feet 8 inches high. This is his first work in any court events of importance. He is a member of the Toledo Outing club. His work as a tennis player as shown during the past few days stamps him as one of the coming players.

Play began yesterday at 10 a. m. with the semi-finals in the singles between Gosline and Cole, best two in three sets. Gosline won the first and third sets. Cole taking the second as follows:

Second set—Gosline: 15-game; game-love; 15-game; game-40; game-30; 30-game; 15-game; game-40; 30-game; deuce-game; 4-6.

Third set—Gosline: Game-15; 15-game; game-love; game-15; 30-game; game-30; 40-game; game-15; 15-game; game-love; 6-4.

The great and deciding event of the tournament was the finals in the singles between Gosline and Codd. They were played in the afternoon under the most favorable circumstances and Gosline fairly and squarely won the match. The play on both sides was hot and exciting. Codd set the pace and played in his usual brilliant style which was very fast. He got in his bound ball smash whenever the opportunity presented while on the other side Gosline met the smashes in his own cool way and returned many of them. Codd's serve was swift and in this he was the superior of his opponent, while the latter was very effective with his unerring placing of the ball. Time and again would Codd rush across the court and make an almost impossible return of the ball only to see, the next instant, the ball placed just out of reach on the opposite part by his skilful antagonist.

Gosline easily captured the first set and the score by games in the next three as follows:

Second set—Gosline: 40-game; game-30; game-30; game-40; deuce-game; game-deuce; game-deuce; game-deuce; deuce-game; 30-game; 40-game; 15-game; game-30; game-15; 15-game; 30-game; game-15; 15-game; game-30; love-game; game-deuce; 15-game; 30-game; 10-12.

Third set—Gosline: game-15; game-deuce; deuce-game; game-30; game-30; deuce-game; game-15; game-love; 6-2.

Fourth set—Gosline: Game-15; deuce-game; game-30; game-30; game-love; 30-game; 30-game; game-deuce; game-15; 6-3.

IN MR. GITSKY'S STORE

Two Innocent Poles Were Arrested.

Their Little Children Were at the Depot While Parents Were at Police Station.

About 2:30 o'clock this afternoon an officer hustled two innocent Polish people into the police station. They were neatly dressed and could talk just a little English. They had been arrested for disturbance. The poor people could not explain their trouble to the officer, and the turnkey proceeded to search them, as is his duty.

Finally a Polish officer was called and the man told his story. He said:

"We were going west and had a few hours to lay over here. We left our little children at the depot and came up town. On Monroe street we stopped at Gitsky's clothing store and looked at some suits. The clerk—Michael Weiner—showed us some children's suits, and finally we selected one and paid for it. He made up a bundle and we took it and went back to the depot. When we got there and opened it we found that the bundle only contained a coat. We were being swindled and went back up town. The clerk argued the matter with us, and finally we were arrested."

The officer who made the arrest said he did so on on the clerk's complaint.

If all this is true it is a matter that should be investigated. These people who come here unaccustomed to the customs and language of the country should be protected and not disgraced. Americans traveling in foreign countries do considerable grumbling sometimes at what they term bull-headed injustice, but there could be none much worse than this.

Finally the poles were understood and the clerk, who was afterwards arrested, gave them back their money and they were allowed to proceed. All's well that ends well, but such practices as this have been reported before and if there is anything in it, it should be stopped.

COUNCILMAN SWAIN

Files His Resignation With Mayor Emmick.

Are Others to Follow?—the Bee Talks With Prosecutor Barber and Solicitor Read—The Result.

The impeachment proceedings against the councilmen will be established, if Solicitor Read is authority on the subject.

In conversation with a Bee relative to the all-absorbing question Mr. Read said:

"Impeachment proceedings will be instituted to a certainty. I cannot say just exactly when, for the reason that I do not know. I have drawn up the affidavit in rough, but am going to re-construct it. I am determined in this matter and don't propose to leave any flaws in the affidavit to be picked open, if careful preparation can avoid any such calamity. I have a new charge to add, one that will develop new features in the case, and which has not been referred to in the papers. The affidavit has not yet been signed, but that part has all been arranged satisfactorily, so that there will be no difficulty in that direction."

It has been rumored about the streets for several days that one of the indicted councilmen intended to turn State's evidence to clear himself.

Prosecutor Barber was seen by a Bee this morning and when approached on the subject manifested some surprise.

"I have received no intimation of such resolution or intention on the part of any of the parties," said Mr. Barber, "but even if such was to be the case, it would not come about at present, inasmuch as the cases have been continued until the September term of court."

The only new development in the case is the submission of the resignation of Ransom P. Swain to Mayor Emmick, which is couched in the following language:

Toledo O., July 20, 1892.

To Hon. V. J. Emmick:

Dear Sir—Believing that pending the investigation of the charges against me, my ability to serve my constituents would be greatly impaired, I hereby tender my resignation as a member of the common council from the Seventh ward, to take effect this day. Respectfully,

RANSOM P. SWAIN.

Report was rife to-day that more resignations were to follow from both certain of the accused and other members of the board of councilmen.

Said Mayor Emmick to a Bee:

"When I received Mr. Swain's resignation it was intimated to me that more of the indicted men intended to resign; also that certain members of the board had signified their intention of taking a similar step unless the indicted members resigned or were impeached and tried."

HARRETY TO LEAD.

The democratic national committee met here to-day, Chairman Brice presiding. W. F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, was elected as the new chairman, and S. P. Sheerin, of Indiana, was re-elected secretary.

Robert B. Roosevelt, of New York, was elected treasurer of the committee, to succeed Vilas, who resigned.

The Public Notification.

It was a happy day for the democracy yesterday. The truly democratic way of formally notifying the candidates for president and vice president of the honor that had fallen to their lot was successful even beyond anticipation. The most satisfactory feature of the affair was its genuine enthusiasm. Not for one man or two men, but for the principles they represent. Grover Cleveland stands for democratic principles—liberty, and equality for all men before the law. His devotion to these principles and his honesty and integrity have been proven. So the honor paid the man is really an expression of renewed fealty to the underlying ethics of justice upon which the republic is founded. The one comprehensive issue between the parties, that includes all lesser issues, is the equality of all men before the law as against class legislation to promote class prosperity, regardless of the fortunes of the masses.

The scene at the Madison Square Garden must prove an inspiration to the party for earnest and unfiring endeavor, in the sincere belief that the best interests of the country depend upon the success of the ticket. The greeting address of Chairman Wilson contained some fine epigrammatic passages which will be remembered and repeated, for instance, "The necessities of government are the beginning and the necessities of government the ending of just taxation;" and "Against the centralization of power in the federal government and the centralization of wealth in favored classes we fight as against the enemies of freedom." Mr. Cleveland's reply was dignified, candid and earnest, as his utterances always are.

The address of Hon. Stephen White, of California, to Hon. A. E. Stevenson, the nominee for vice-president, was a model of conciseness and good taste. He comprehended much in few words when he said: "Candid in our platform, rejoicing in the character and statesmanship of our chosen leaders, conscious of the honesty and ability of those upon whose suffrages we must rely, we are prepared and anxious to meet the issue. We have nothing to fear and can have nothing to regret." Mr. Stevenson was modest and felicitous in his reply.

The cheering crowd numbered nearly as many as were assembled in the famous wigwam where the ticket was made. It was a most auspicious opening of the campaign, and the precedent thus established will surely have following. Nothing could be more in keeping with the spirit of true democracy than the public declaration of the party's choice and the public acceptance of the trust. No better occasion could be devised for an outspoken and unqualified endorsement of party doctrine and an earnest of work for the principles it embodies.

Campaign Humbugging and Free Advertising.

The tourist who enters the crystal palace at Sydenham, England, will observe near the main door a huge chunk of tin ore on which is placarded in large white letters" Harney Peak, U. S. A." When President Harrison was making his famous swing around the circle, a year ago, at a station in California was piled some bar tin, as if waiting for shipment. The president "caught on" and made his little speech about it, as was intended, in the way of an advertisement for the mines. Both of these movements were for one and the same purpose. Not only to prop up the brand new tin tax law, but to gull more Englishmen into buying shares. The scheme with others like it—free blowing for "the industry" by campaign orators and newspaper echoings of the same—worked like a charm. The Englishmen with visions of millions taken by tribute from the pockets of the American people under cover of "benefit to labor" (which labor they could import from any point in Europe on their own terms) took the bait. The Temescal mines are owned wholly and the Harney Peak mines, in large proportion, by English capitalists. But to the sequel: since the November elections Temescal tin has dropped out of calculation and the English manager of the English mine has sailed home to tell the shareholders that every day's operation at the mines means dollars out of pocket. It has never paid expenses and the prospect is that the English capitalists can credit one more to the shrewd Yankees, and incidentally to a peculiarity of American politics.

With the failure of Temescal, the campaign orators will now string up their old guitar to the tune of Harney Peak. A delegate to the Omaha M. E. conference ran out to the Black Hills before he departed for his home in New York and discovered that "Harney's Peak looks down upon the richest tin ore deposits in the world." Now every American citizen and all the Harney Peak English stockholders along with their scattering American partners, will hope that the opinion of this ministerial "expert" will prove to be a correct one. But it will need more evidence than was given to boom the Temescal humbug, albeit that succeeded so entirely in accomplishing its object. Every man and woman in the country would say amen, and thanks to good fortune if tin ore could be taken from our own mines for our own use, but wholesale campaign lying which, also, answers the double purpose of free advertising for speculators is, in mining parlance, pretty nearly "played out."

The Financial Issue

Columns of expostulation and explanation do not alter cold facts. And facts are one thing for campaigners of '92 to handle. In reviewing the administration of President Harrison, the financial management of it alone would be enough to condemn it in the sight of honest men. The Detroit News sums up the various features of it in Tuesday's issue, in too concise a manner for condensation. It says:

The best criterion of the management of any business is the financial one. When Mr. Harrison entered office, the great question before the country was not how to raise the revenue and meet current expenses, but how to dispose wisely of a surplus that had been inherited from a former administration. Mr. Harrison's first duty was to place Secretary Windom face to face with more than $127,000,000 of accumulated cash which nobody knew what to do with; at least nobody but the Harrison administration, which has shown itself equal to the emergency. In just one year after Secretary Windom had taken the treasury $101,000,000 of this had disappeared. On June 30, the end of the present fiscal year, not only had the old balance of surplus disappeared, but there had also disappeared an additional surplus of $247,000,000 which has been accumulating during the three years of Mr. Harrison's administration, and at the present moment we are confronted with a deficit of about $4,000,000. As the daily dispatches record, the present congress is obliged to continue old appropriations from day to day in order to keep the government running.

Now how has this $4,000,000 deficit been drawn out of $127,000,000 (really $374,000,000) surplus? The mere fact of a deficit does not prove extravagance and mismanagement. The method of it is what tells. Everybody will remember that when the enormous surplus was the problem of the day, three principal schemes were proposed to get rid of it: First, sudden and great increase of national expenditures; second, purchase of national bonds; third, reduction of taxation. The better judgment of the country condemned the first two methods and advocated the third. As a matter of fact, the Harrison administration perversely adopted the two bad methods and the very opposite of the good one. The "billion dollar congress," with its increase of the pension list from $87,000,000 to about $150,000,000, shows how expenditures have increased. The McKinley bill is a story of the increase of taxes. The treasury books show that during this period about $300,000,000 in bonds were purchased, notwithstanding Mr. Windom protested that "it is manifestly wrong to take money from the people for the cancellation of bonds to the saving of only about 2 per cent. interest, when it is worth to them perhaps three times as much in their business." If Mr. Windom's statement is good doctrine, the country has already lost $25,000,000 by the purchase of these bonds.

This record can not be explained away, neither can it be honestly vindicated and by it, the Harrison administration and the party of it deserves to be retired.

The New Associate Justice.

The appointment of Geo. Shiras, jr., of Pittsburg, Pa., to be associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, excites very little comment from any quarter except a wonderment as to who pulled a string on the president. Perhaps he saw the need of doing something for that part of the Keystone commonwealth in the interest of the party, and this was all and the best that was in his power. The knowing ones are asking, what recalcitrant is this intended to mollify? The appointee's legal ability and experience seem not to be considered at all.

Dispatches from Washington are to the effect that Secretary Foster is mad clear through and will resign. To credit it to the action of the Ohio delegation at Minneapolis is a little far-fetched. Anger of that kind isn't so slow. The supposition is that the accomplished Ohioan has become disgusted with the effort of trying to make a deficit appear as a surplus and gives up the job, glad to get rid of it.

President Harrison snatched back his colored nominee for postmaster in short order. He owed it to the man by virtue of the latter at Minneapolis, but in the present temper of southern white republicans, he hadn't the courage to fulfill his promises. Now it's in order for the black republicans to "resolve."

The republican organs are quoting Chas. A. Dana with exceeding great gusto just now, although the most scathing things yet put in print about Harrison and his administration were in an editorial in the New York Sun. Much adverse happening hath made these fellows rattled.

Gov. McKinley is in demand for campaign speeches. As he makes the same address of self-laudation and of either intentional or unconscious falsification every time, it is no great strain upon him.

"The American people indorsed republican protection and Harrison by voice of the ballot." Ah, no, gentle editor, more ballots were cast for Cleveland than for Benjamin Harrison, and there will be again—enough more.

Think of a Boston paper publishing "poetry" like the following and branding it, "written for the Journal."

Yes, Sairy Ann was in last night,
An' so wuz Suky Jane;
'N' Beesey, too, 'n' Licia White,
Wo's sewin' with might 'n' main
On clothes for nebber Jones's wife—
She's got burnt out, poor dear—
When in walked Mandy, large ez life,
A-bringin' her woman's spear.

That's what she sed; 'n' she's jest f'm town
'N' ought'er know, I s'pose—
She's a wise-like woman, is Mandy Brown,
Ef she does wear men's clothes—
But 'ceptin' a middlin' size silk hat,
'N' a cane all twisted queer,
Ther' wuzn't a thing f'm boots to crayvat,
I sh'd ever 'f called a spear.

Seven stanzas of this proudly placed, then hear a groan from Boston that "the poetic faculty seems to be on the decline." One wonders what kind of verse that editor puts in his waste basket.

A respectable woman with her five-years' old child was arrested in the streets of New York Friday night last, incarcerated thirty-six hours in prison and obliged to give up her child to the S. P. C. C. and all without a shadow of cause. New York newspapers are expressing proper indignation, but will it lead to reform? There are cities besides New York where similar outrages are perpetrated. Police matrons at the stations are a help towards reform, but a vigorous public sentiment and some regulation of official authority to keep pace with it, is demanded. Poverty and helplessness do not make a woman in the category of criminals, and should not constitute them victims of official scoundrelism.

When Jay Gould has his present conservatories on his Hudson estate completed he will own the most expensive private flower gardens and flower houses in the world. Seven hundred and fifty acres will be mostly included. And there are poor wretches dying in attics within stone's throw of Mr. Gould's New York mansion who would almost tarry a little longer for the delight of possession of one spray of roses. Perhaps there is no help for these startling contrasts, but it almost seems that there ought to be.

There is considerable quiet hob-nobbling being done by Candidates Ashley, Griffin and Hamilton for the republican congressional nomination. Several of the knowing ones think Capt. Jim Luckey, of Elmore, will tree the persimmons on account of the three-cornered scrimmage in Lucas county. Maybe.

Labor-Bureau Murphy is right. If he is to be put out of office for cause, it is just that he should know what that cause may be, and be given a right to defend himself against accusation.

Capt. Heistand Puts the Boys Through.

A Man from Up-Country Talks Dress Parade.

The Skirmish Drill Last Evening Carried the Boys Over Fences, and Was a Dandy—Visitors and Camp Notes.

There is a hurry and bustle in camp right after supper, occasioned by the preparation for dress parade, which is the event of the day. A person who understood nothing of military matters would find it something of a job to describe the ceremonious proceedings such an event occasions. To the unintiated it is a good deal of a puzzle.

An old man from up country was coming to Toledo on the train this morning and took a seat beside a Bee, who had been at camp. He grew communicative and talked on various subjects, finally settling down on Camp Toledo, which he had just left.

"Say," said he, "you ort to see them fellers do their dress parade, I'll swow it's a likely thing."

"Is that so?" answered the Bee. "What do they do?"

"Do? Why durn it, they do everything and do it all over the lot. Why, a darnation lively band trots out on the meadow and toots a little and the fellers in blue togs come out in bunches just humping and then stand around in rows; then the band toots a funeral march and crawls around in front of the soldiers and then turns and goes back on the jump, the feller in front throwing a stick around in the air like a pin wheel all the while; then a man with a little horn gives a couple of blows like a fish peddler, and then a cannon goes off and the flag comes down the pole; and a dapper little man bobs up in front and hollers in a voice that comes from his boots, 'attention!' and then they open up ranks, whatever that is, and then the other fellow bobs up way in front and shouts 'present arms,' and some other things that sound like 'hunks'; then he fiddles around back of another high munky munk that stands way off looking at the thing; then a couple of other officers or something, come down and meet the other two and say 'how are you? What'll you have,'' or something else that the fellers up in the ranks can't hear, and then they get their heads together and make the sergeants report and then the band toots again and they have the gol darndest lot of fussing, and everybody marches off and then do the same thing over again the next night. That's dress parade, didn't you ever see it?"

Yesterday was the busiest day since camp opened. All morning the boys were engaged in polishing their guns and brass, and getting in shape to challenge the critical eye of Capt. Heistand. The inspection came off at 2 o'clock under the big trees at the edge of the parade ground. The company was in heavy marching order, with canteens, haversacks, knapsacks, the latter packed, overcoats, etc. The men wore their leggins, and altogether presented an extremely rugged, soldierly and picturesque appearance.

The captain's inspection was most thorough. Every detail was entered into. He fired questions at them hot and heavy, asking them why a bullet went out of a gun, why it stopped, what effect the wind had on it, how did a bullet's course differ at different altitudes, how many pieces are in a gun, and a thousand others of the same kind. He asked these questions more to instruct than anything else. He made one man open his knapsack and exhibit the contents. Some of the boys snickered at this, and they in turn had to get down on their marrow bones and show up. The men were finally placed in front of their respective tents, and the quarters were thoroughly inspected. Afterwards Capt. Heistand summed the whole thing up in the one word, "Excellent."

Dress parade last evening was a very elaborate affair. Col. Howe was reviewing officer. Capt. Heistand commanded the batallion, Lieutenant Watters acted as adjutant, while Captain McMaken and Lieut. Howells commanded the first and second companies respectively.

After the ceremony the company slipped out of their finery into their working clothes and started in on a skirmish drill that topped anything before attempted by them. A long skirmish line was thrown out and the bugle was sounded to advance double-quick. The boys charged up the hill, through the astonished spectators, over a high barbed wire fence, across the road over another fence and landed right in a farmer's door yard. The folks took to the house, and chickens scatteed to the four points of the compass.

The men set up a firing and then retreated. In the [illegible] stopped, fired in bunches, charged with bayonets at the imaginary foe, and then slipped back over the fences pell mell and down the hill. The boys say it was a corker, and they ought to know, for they were in it.

Two Gendron wheel men are in camp to-day fixing up the wheels with the Gendron's latest patent, a fixture that keeps the wheel upright as soon as the rider dismounts. It consists of a light strong rod joined to the framework of the wheel forward of the saddle, by a universal joint. It is about three feet long and fits down closely to the wheel resting on catch on the rear hub when not in use. When the rider dismounts he lifts it out of its resting place and the sharp end sticks in the ground and supports the wheel upright. It is a very clever invention and can be used on any wheel. The company is much pleased with the Gendron wheels.

The Cartridge Box.

Mrs. Wm. Welbon will visit the camp to-day.

Miss May Tipple is expected in camp this evening.

A large party of Toledo ladies are at camp to-day.

Judge Handy, of Wauseon, was in camp yesterday.

Miss Emma Blank and Miss Coe spent yesterday in camp.

Mr. and Mrs. James Raymer arrived in camp yesterday.

Sergeant Goodall left camp last evening to return Saturday.

Col. Howe is an honorary member of the Cadets, and very proud of it.

Mrs. Star Souder has arrived in camp.

Private Bromley has left camp, but will return Saturday.

Regular camp routine will be observed again to-day. The inspection and muster upset things yesterday.

Capt. Heistand left camp this morning for Delphos, where he will join his wife. The ladies all think it too bad the captain is married.

Capt. J. B. Wilson, of Bowling Green, drove over with a party yesterday. There were three wagonette loads of ladies and gentlemen.

Al Wolfert and Ned Trowbridge had the best cleaned guns at inspection yesterday, and were complimented by the inspecting officer.

Photographer Paul Krueger, of the Gendron Wheel Co., was in camp yesterday and took several pictures of the company on wheels.

Capt. Heistand went the rounds last night after midnight and instructed the guards in various matters. The captain never sleeps, seemingly.

Capt. Weier, of Company A, Sixteenth regiment, spent last night in camp, and had lots of fun with a patent tooling machine he sprung on the boys.

Capt. Heistand goes to the Third regiment encampment at Woodsdale next, then to the Second regiment at Presque Isle, and the Sixteenth at Fremont.

Ed Pixley's diminutive shape always gets on the extreme left of the line, and when the company turns he has to hustle to get around, but he gets there every time.

Capt. McMaken asked Capt. Heistand to criticise the company last evening. "No," answered the captain, "I can't. When a company does so much so well, it would be unfair."

Col. Howe, Capt. Heistand, Capt. McMaken, Lieut. Howells and Lieut. Watters in front of the headquarters tent. Privates Ryan and Phillips are also in the picture supporting the colors.

Col. Howe left camp this morning for Woodsdale Island park, near Hamilton, where the Third regiment is in camp. He will be at the Second regiment encampment at Presque Isle next week.

Col. Howe fished nearly all day yesterday and caught a great string. He says he never had such fishing in all his life and he is going to run up and fish a little in September. Jack Schmidt photographed the Colonel's catch.

The band concert last evening was very enjoyable out under the trees. The ladies sat around in reclining chairs, and the gentlemen stretched themselves out on blankets on the grass. It was a very picturesque gathering. After the concert the boys sang songs until the roll call.

TOOK THE CASH,

And Not Being Able to Put It Back He Took a Walk.

Chicago, July 21.—George Bartels, jr., who for one and a half years has been the paying teller of the Central Trust and Savings bank, disappeared last Saturday and it is alleged with him upwards of $3,000 of the bank's money.

Betting on the races and bad associates are assigned as the causes of his downfall. The bank lost nothing, as it was secured by a $10,000 bond of the American Surety company, of New York, and it is the latter institution that is anxious to know Mr. Bartel's whereabouts.

Democratic Rally Announced for Friday Night

Will be Held Next Monday Evening at Memorial Hall—Address by Hon. Frank H. Hurd.

The Cleveland-Stevenson democratic rally announced for to-morrow night at Memorial hall has been postponed until next Monday night at the same place.

This step has been rendered necessary from the fact that Friday evening is the last opportunity the local military companies will have to prepare for the encampment of the Sixteenth regiment, which occurs next week at Fremont. While there will undoubtedly be some disappointment at the announcement, there will be no decrease in the interest, since Toledo generally, especially the working classes, desire to hear Hon. Frank Hurd, the speaker of the occasion, discuss the proposition of "Protection and Wages."

Make arrangements to attend on Monday evening at Memorial hall.

WITH GREAT ECLAT.

The Columbian Club's Splendid Headquarters

Were Opened Last Night—A Brilliant Reception—Rare Program Rendered—Some of Those Who Attended.

The formal opening of the Columbian club occurred last evening at their handsome new quarters, No. 332 Michigan street, and a brilliant and successful event it was. About 400 people called during the evening, and the pretty club house was taxed to its utmost capacity by the members and their friends. Two hundred and seventy-nine Chinese lanterns were artistically suspended from trees surrounding the house, presenting a decidedly pleasing effect. Improvised seats were placed here and there on the lawn, where groups of friends were gathered enjoying the pretty sight. Uhl's orchestra, consisting of 11 pieces, discoursed enchanting music at various intervals during the evening. The different rooms were beautifully decorated with flags, flowers, potted plants, etc., by Mrs. Suder under the direction of the committee on decoration, Messrs. E. A. Suder, J. J. Whelan, Jos. C. Huber, D. J. Cotter and Jos. Galloway.

At 9 o'clock the program was opened with a selection by the orchestra followed by an address of welcome by Hon. Gilbert Harmon. Miss Anna Mellink sang very sweetly, Waltz Magnetigue, Mr. John Brady acting as accompanist. Mrs. Dr. H. C. Kuebler delighted her hearers with a piano solo, as did also Mr. J. B. Poulin with a solo, accompanied by Maria Ullrich. This was followed by a selection from Martha by the orchestra. Miss Minnie Dillon's violin solo was a pleasing feature, accompanied by Miss Kate Wyck; Mrs. P. H. Monks, who possesses a fine alto voice, sang "Dreams," with violin obligato by Arthur Trost. The xylaphone and musical bowl specialty by Messrs. Joe and Phil Uhl was much enjoyed. Miss Maria Ullrich favored the assembly with a piano solo, admirably rendered; Miss Ella Suder, who possesses a pure, rich soprano voice, sang "Heaven Above," by Marschner, and received many compliments on the rendition of the difficult piece. She was accompanied by Miss Louise Engfer.

The program was concluded by a selection by the orchestra, after which the guests repaired to the dining-room where elegant refreshments were served.

Will Remain in the Hands of Its Present Owners.

Judge Ricks Decides Against the English Syndicate—Other Decisions Rendered.

Judge Ricks, in the United States circuit court, to-day, rendered a number of decisions, the chief of which was that wherein the sale of the Buckeye Brewery to the English syndicate is declared null and void.

It will be remembered that H. W. Easun, representing the English syndicate, brought suit to have the sale of the brewery enforced.

The Bee published the petition at the time and it is not necessary to give particulars again.

After reviewing the case at considerable length Judge Ricks in his decision says:

This sale could undoubtedly have been made for cash and deferred payments. The purchase price might not have been so great upon such a basis, but still would have been adequate. As no emergency existed to compel this sale, and the transaction was purely voluntary on the part of the corporation, there is no reason why it should be permitted to violate the well settled principles of law by taking stock in a new corporation and thereby enhancing the consideration which it was to receive. Public policy discourages such transactions. As the supreme court of Ohio has well said, in the case in 36 Ohio state, above referred to, "Were this not so, one corporation, by buying up the majority of the shares of the stock of another, could take the entire management of its business, however foreign such business might be to that which the corporation so purchasing said shares was created to carry on. A banking corporation could become the operator of a railroad, or carry on the business of manufacturing, and any other corporation could engage in banking by obtaining control of the bank's stock. Nor would this result follow any the less certainly if the shares of stock were received in pledge only to secure the payment of a debt, provided the shares were transferred on the books to the name of the pledgee. A person in whose name the stock of the corporation stands on the books of the corporation is as to the corporation a stockholder, and has the right to vote upon the stock."

All these objections apply with full force to the transactions under consideration before us. There is no reason why there should be a departure from these well settled rules in this case. There are no creditors whose interests are to be protected by upholding this sale. There are no unfortunate shareholders who are liable to be assessed for unpaid debts under the statutes of the state. There was, in fact, no emergency to justify any such unauthorized transactions on the part of the Buckeye Brewing company. The plaintiff does not sustain such a relation to this contract as entitles him to any exemption from the application of these principles of law. He must be held to have dealt with this corporation with knowledge of its corporate powers. They were such as was conferred by the laws of Ohio, of which he had the same notice as the defendant and all persons dealing with it. The want of power on the part of the defendant to make such a contract prevents the plaintiff from either enforcing it in an action for specific performance, or recovering damages for its breach. (Coppin v Greenlees & Ransom Co., 38 O. S. 275).

For the reason stated, we think the contract ultra vires. It cannot, therefore, be enforced, and this proceeding must fail. The other grounds insisted upon in the demurrer it will not be necessary to notice. The demurrer must be sustained, and the petition dismissed.

Judge Ricks rendered decisions in the following cases:

Dickson, Wood & Co. v. Toledo Window Glass Co. Decree for complainant and case referred to special master to report profits and damages.

Leopold Manbourgh, v. the B. & O. (2 cases) personal injury, dismissed.

Joseph D. Myers v. the Pennsylvania and Lake Shore Railroad companies. Motion to have case remanded to circuit court. Sustained.

C. E. Warner v. W. T. Dickinson, motion to strike out a section of the petition refused.

Graham v. Payne to recover possession of certain lands and damages. Verdict for plaintiff.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company v. Geo. Loop, petition for rehearing disallowed.

The petition of the New York Construction company against Kauffman Simon, was dismissed. It was an action brought against the defendant as surety on the bond of Richard & Co., who had a contract on the construction of the Columbus, Lima & Michigan railroad. Numerous injunctions were also prayed for.

THE GARDEN OF MY YOUTH.

Round this quaint, old-fashioned garden
I have wandered as a child,
Where the honeysuckles blossom,
Mixed with roses sweet and wild.
Here, a vague dream ever filled me
With a sweet and glad unrest,
Of a hero, who was riding
From the golden glowing west,
Who would love me and protect me—
So I dreamed—from care and pain;
He would love me—all earth's music
Mingled in that fond refrain.

O ye golden dreams of girlhood!
What on earth could shed to-day
Half the glory of your glamour
O'er my life, so cold and gray?
Never can I live them over;
I have sinned, and Eden lies
Out of sight—its love and beauty
Hidden from my wistful eyes.
Was it strange if I grew reckless,
Learning soon to laugh to scorn
All the bright and holy visions
That had filled my girlhood's morn?

It is over now and finished;
I have turned the last sad page
Of that bygone love and sorrow,
Blurred and dim with tears and age.
I can speak without a tremor
Of the past; I even jest.
Sometimes, o'er those old heart mem'ries
Once that stirred within my breast,
But in this old-fashioned garden,
Where I wandered in my youth,
Two gray shadows steal beside me—
Outraged love, and murdered truth.

A FARMER AND THE SNAKE.

Again I was conscious of seeing my farmer friend, Biloch Khan.

This time he had a huge snake coiled up in an uncomfortable sort of way round his neck. I heard the beast say—"That is downright nonsense! Of course I have a perfect right to change my mind, if I wish."

It looked very unpleasant for poor Bill, but still I was bound to admit that there seemed to be some truth in what the snake said.

The farmer had a big stick in his hand. He was standing near a cattle-pen made of furze bushes, within the enclosure of which stood a low olive-tree. The furze had somehow caught fire. The whole cattle-pen was in a blaze, and the olive tree, too, was rapidly being consumed.

Instinctively I knew all that had happened.

Biloch Khan was walking towards his home when he was attracted by the flames and cries which proceeded from the tree.

As he approached he heard a voice—

"For pity's sake get me down from here; I am being roasted alive! Quick! quick!"

The man looked up to the tree, and when he saw the snake he blandly asked—

"Give me your news, O snake! Is it well with you?"

"Oh, do not bother me for news," answered the reptile, for once forgetting his manners. "Get me out of this and then we will talk about news."

"Nay, nay! not so fast," was the reply. "If I help you, you will make a return by biting me."

"No," said the snake, "I promise I will not. Do be quick; I assure you it is very warm here. The flames have caught the end of my tail. I can feel it is quite blistered already."

"Will you promise me?"

"Yes, yes; I will promise anything. Save me!"

On this Biloch Khan relented, and saying to himself it must be rather unpleasant to have one's tail roasted, he held up his stick, and allowed the snake to coil himself round and crawl down. But not contented with the stick, he glided rapidly from it on to the farmer's arm, and then settled round his neck, as we have seen him.

He then said—

"Now I will tell you my news; it is that I am going to bite you."

"Oh, but!" pleaded the man, "you said you would not. You promised most faithfully."

"I know I did," returned the serpent, "but I have changed my mind."

"But you cannot. A promise is a promise, and you made me a very solemn one."

Then said the snake, as we have already seen—

"That is downright nonsense! Of course I have a perfect right to change my mind, if I wish."

"I dispute that," was the reply, "for in the first place, you have no mind to change, and in the second place, if you had, it is a privilege that belongs to ladies only."

"Ha, ha!" laughed the snake, "I accept what you say, but I am the exception that proves the rule. This is what men themselves say, and though I do not know what it means, I can apply it to my own case."

"Well," said Bloch Khan again, after a brief period for reflection, "it is an awkward position, for, you see, we differ so completely in our notions of what is right. I can only make one suggestion, and that is that you do not bite me yet, but that we submit the matter to a judge to decide for us."

"Agreed," said the snake.

It seemed to be a very queer proceeding, and yet off they started in search of some one to decide their case. It must have been very awkward for the poor farmer, for the snake stretched out about two feet of his length from the man's shoulder, and then turned his head round and brought his fangs within about a half inch of the wretched fellow's nose.

They had not gone far before they saw a fox crossing the road.

"Here is the umpire!" exclaimed the man, and then he cried out, "Welcome, oh, fox! you are come in the nick of time."

"Salaam," returned the fox, "give me your news."

"My news," said the man, "is that this snake and I have a difficult dispute which we cannot settle. We wish you to be umpire."

"How is this?" asked the fox. "I cannot decide this matter while the plaintiff and defendant are thus, one sitting on the other. Before I hear the case, you, O snake, must come down, and sit like a reasonable being on the ground."

"There," said Biloch Khan to himself, "I said the snake had no mind, and the fox bears me out."

The snake then came down and composed himself on the ground.

"Now," continued the fox, addressing Biloch Khan, "tell me your story."

"My story," said he, "is as follows: I was going home. I saw a cattle-pen on fire. I heard cries from a tree within the enclosure. They came from the snake, who was being roasted. I saved him after he had promised not to bite me. When he was safe he settled on my neck, and said he would bite me. Then we agreed to go to a judge. All else is well."

"And your account, please," blandly smiled the fox, as he turned to the snake.

"My account," he said, "is the same as Bloch Khan's. His facts are correct, but I claim my right to allow my opinions their full and natural development. I made the promise in all good faith, fully intending at the moment I made it to carry it out. I did carry it out until circumstances changed so much that I felt bound in conscience to bite Biloch Khan. It is just the natural development of thought which some people call change of mind. All else is well."

"Bless you both," said the fox. He took two minutes to consider the case. He then continued: "In this weighty case it is needless that I should make known the grave considertaions which have led to my decision. As you both agreed to abide by what I say, I give my decision at once. It is this (turning to the farmer): that you, Biloch Khan, take your stick and knock the snake on the head."

Biloch Kahn did so, and the snake died.

I thought the fox was another exception, and that to his evil race. But whether he proved any rule or not I could not find out.

"WE'RE NOT IN IT,"

Says Commissioner Potter in the Police Board,

And Commissioner Stager Responds "Amen" — Sergeant Sullivan Resigns—Health Matters—The Cop Bosses Meet.

The police board met in regular session last evening with all members present.

Health Officer Fisher made a lengthy statement relative to the filthy and unhealthy conditions of the alleys extending from Adams street to Monroe street, between Summit and St. Clair streets.

He stated that numerous complaints had been made as to the condition of these alleys and wanted it understood that the health department is not to blame. Notices had been served on all occupants of buildings on this alley to remove all boxes and refuse of business, especially the restaurants and hotels. The alley had been thoroughly cleaned and renovated. He suggested that the street commissioners be directed to clean the alley twice a week; that the Popp Livery company be required to make proper sewer connections to carry off the water and other refuse from the stable, which at present runs into the alley and stands in the hollow places and becomes stagnant and very unhealthy. Also that the city council be recommended to grade and pave the alley.

Garbage Contractor O'Hara was present and stated that as to the garbage in the alley, it had been collected regularly, but in the future he would detail a wagon to go through the alley every day and gather up the garbage.

Mr. Potter said that while the matter of the sanitary condition of the city was under discussion he wanted to call attention to the Italian fruit dealers to be found on every corner in the city. These dealers, he said, kicked up more stench and made more dirt than all of the restaurants in the city, and in the most prominent streets of the city at that. He did not believe they had any right there, and for his part would like to see them moved.

Mayor Emmick replied that each merchant was allowed three feet in front of his place of business to show goods or use in any other manner.

Mr. Potter said business men had no right to rent this space for the maintenance of a nuisance.

Mr. Potter then brought up the question of a pest house. He knew of a five-acre tract on the Jerusalem road, which could be purchased for $3,000.

Health Officer Fisher stated that the property was out of the city limits and could not be used for this purpose.

On motion of Mr. Stager it was voted to instruct the street commissioner to clean the alley referred to twice a week until October 1. He also moved that the council be requested to grade and re-pave the alley.

As to Popp's livery barn a motion was adopted recommending that the council compel the owner or lessees of this barn to erect proper eaves and conductors, also that proper sewage connections be made, in the interest of the health of the community.

Dr. Fisher stated that parties had in the past been in the habit of bringing the corpses of persons dying in outside towns into the city for burial. Often contagious disease was spread in this manner, and the health department had no power to prevent it. He wanted the undertakers to be compelled to comply with the law, and seal all coffins, prohibiting all open funerals. He was instructed to present each undertaker in the city with a copy of the law on the subject.

Clerk Durian read a bill submitted by Detective Duffey, amounting to $112.50, for services rendered from May 4 to June 15, during which time he was compelled to be idle, pending the decision of the board relative to his discharge on the night of May 4.

Mr. Stager said Mr. Duffey desired to make a statement to the board. The gentleman was called in and in his statement said that after serving on the regular police force, five years ago, he was instructed to report in citizens' clothes. The department, he was informed, desired that the tough dives on St. Clair and Monroe streets be cleaned out, and he was put in charge of the work; that in less than nine months he had broken up 72 of the most disreputable dives that ever disgraced a city, and drove away hundreds of the toughest of tough characters, both male and female; that he worked day and night. In pursuit of this duty he made hundreds of enemies, among this class of people, and if he had not been honest in his work complaint would have been made long ago. He had been discharged, apparently without reason, and without hearing. He was willing to answer any questions or charges.

Mr. Potter said he considered that Mr. Duffey had a good and valid claim.

Mr. Emmick said the board was not bound to explain to any officer why he was discharged.

Mr. Doville said that the board had discharged 14 policemen, and if this claim was paid the others would then put in similar claims.

Mr. Stager, in reply to this, said that all officers who had not been discharged by a two-thirds vote, as Messrs. Duffey and Gilroy were, had good claims.

Mr. Waring moved that the claim be referred to the mayor, to confer with Solicitor Read on the matter.

The complaint filed at the last meeting by Harry Ashley, against Officer McFarland, who had arrested him instead of C. S. Ashley, was taken up. Officer McFarland was called in and stated that he was on a Superior street car en route to C. S. Ashley's residence, and asked the driver if he knew C. S. Ashley, and where he lived. The driver, he said, pointed to a man walking on the street with a lady, saying that the person was C. S. Ashley. He alighted from the car, and calling the person to one side, handed him the warrant. The gentleman read the warrant, said he was not the man referred to, and turned and walked away. Thinking the man was endeavoring to evade him, he requested him to be identified. Together they went into Doyle, Scott & Lewis' law office, near by, where Mr. Ashley was identified, and on learning his mistake Mr. McFarland said he excused himself and departed.

On motion of Mr. Stager, the matter was dropped.

The resignations of Officer Schroeder and Sergeant O'Sullivan were submitted and accepted.

A recess of ten minutes was taken to caucus as to choice for sergeant to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. O'Sullivan. H. A. Williams and Michael Casey were nominated. Mr. Williams was elected, having three votes.

Mr. Potter moved that the sanitary department be increased by the employment of another man.

Mr. Doville, in one of his characteristic speeches, opposed the motion. The motion was put and lost, Messrs. Stayer and Potter voting aye.

The vote was announced and Mr. Potter remarked "we're not in it."

Mr. Stager replied, "We haven't been since the 4th of May, but we may be in it some other day—Shakespeare."

Health Officer Fisher stated that if the board would allow him a clerk, one of the officers now attending to this duty could do more work in the department.

The matter was laid over until the next meeting, but brought up again before adjournment, on a motion which passed, authorizing Health Officer Fisher to employ a competent young man, salary not to exceed $35.

Charges of a serious nature were preferred against the newly appointed detective Delbert Hall by Chief of Detectives Snore, which will be aired at the next meeting.

HOTELS IN MID-AIR.

St. Louis is Beginning to Get a Move on Herself.

St. Louis, July 21.—St. Louis is to have a summer garden in mid-air, the plans of a fifteen-story office building on which work has just been commenced, including a summer garden on the roof, which will be about 200 feet square. It is proposed to have a band of music, singing, and other entertainments on summer evenings.

The new hotel on the site of the old Planter's is also to have a promenade on the roof.

The projectors of both these undertakings expect these elevated concert gardens and promenades to be exceedingly popular.

FINDLAY NOTES.

A City Gas Plant on a Paying Basis—General Mention.

Findlay, July 21.—(Special)—The police arrested a crazy man yesterday afternoon in Conrad & Magnee's restaurant. His actions frightened the waiter girls so that they ran in all directions. His name is Shockey and he hails from Ada, O.

Judge Johnson yesterday granted a divorce to Douglass Pratt, of this city, from his wife, Mollie Pratt, on the charge of adultery.

The city's natural gas plant is now on a paying basis, and the trustees have put away $10,000 in starting a sinking fund.

Manness & Arnold are rebuilding their grain elevator and roller mill on East street, recently destroyed by fire.

The Young People's Christian union of the United Brethren church is holding its annual convention at the First U. B. church in this city. The leading ministers and young people of all the surrounding towns are present. The session closes to-night.

HUMMING ALONG.

Wonderful Growth and Improvements

Out in a Section of the Eighth Ward —The Smead, Schauss, Williams & Yost Bicycle Cocerns.

The growth and improvement of Toledo within the last two years has been almost phenomenal.

This has not been confined to any particular locality, but has been general, and of a most substantial nature. There has been nothing boomish about the growth, and the property will always bring a hundred cents on the dollar and a good round margin on the investment.

A drive in almost any direction over the city will convince the observer of the truth of these statements. Yesterday a Bee, on invitation of Mr. A. K. Detwiler, enjoyed a delightful ride through the Eighth ward, in the vicinity of the fair grounds.

The development of this quarter of the city is surprising. What was less than three years ago farm land under cultivation, is now occupied by homes, factories and mercantile business houses.

This is particularly the case with the Fair Ground addition. It is an immense tract, extending from beyond Detroit avenue to Keeler avenue, between Dorr street and Oakwood avenue. The addition is intersected by Hicks, Washington and Bartlett streets, east and west, and Hawthorn, Clinton and Hastings streets north and south. All of these streets are improved, with many cosy cottages and stately dwellings abutting on every one. What is more, every residence on the addition is owned and occupied by the one who purchased and erected it.

Another point that augurs well for the future growth and prosperity of this locality is the constant increase of manufacturing interests.

The Williams & Co. chair works, a splendid establishment, located near the intersection of the Lake Shore railroad and Door street, gives employment to over a hundred men.

The Schauss Manufacturing company, which owns and operates an immense wood working factory, turning out hundreds of frames for upholstered furniture every day, employs 200 men and is compelled to run day and night to keep up with the orders. The building is of brick and will stand for years.

The Smead foundries and machine shops, where the famous Smead heating, ventilating and sanitary apparatus is manufactured, is near by. This is one of the most substantial and valuable of Toledo's interests, and gives employment to several hundred men.

The Yost Bicycle company is a new enterprise, and the corporation recently leased the old wire nail mill near the Lake Shore and Dorr street. The structure is being entirely remodeled and reconstructed.

Another story is being added to the building and many other improvements made. Two car loads of machinery have arrived and is now ready to set up. This is of the latest make and design. The concern will employ 175 men day and night. All of the sundries, including tires, will be manufactured, which will be a departure in this line in Toledo.

All these employes will seek homes near their work, and in a few years the present locality will scarcely be recognized, owing to the improvements which will take place.

SIX-FOOT SNAKE.

They Grow Bigger in the Oil Country Than Here.

St. Marys, O., July 21.—(Special.)—A. C. Reichelderfer, superintendent of the Lima Natural Gas company, had a thrilling experience with a huge snake on the Doty farm yesterday afternoon.

The reptile followed him quite a distance and made several attempts to get into the buggy.

After several trials Mr. Reichelderfer procured a heavy club and disposed of his snakeship.

It measured six feet and is unlike anything ever seen here. The serpent was skinned and the skin is now in possession of your correspondent.

MRS. HARRISON.

She is Improving in Health Rapidly at Loon Lake.

Loon Lake, N. Y., July 21.—Mrs. Harrison's health has so far improved that she was able yesterday to take a short walk through the ground surrounding her cottage.

The president, she says, is working hard to wind up his business affairs in Washington, and expects to be able to start for the lake as soon as congress adjourns.

It is possible that if Mrs. Harrison continues to improve at the present rate she will leave here about the middle of August and spend the remainder of the summer with Mrs. McKee at Marblehead, Mass.

CHANGE of LIFE

whether in early girlhood or later on in adult years of the gentler sex is considered a dangerous and momentous period. Passed safely it means everything which is bright and beautiful, otherwise it may mean perpetual ailing, intense suffering, perhaps Death; now and then an Insane Asylum. It was after many years successful experience as a practising physician and constant study of the subject that I put up in popular form to be sold through the druggists, my remedy known as

and Cleansing Wash for the cure of all Female Complaints, no mattter from what cause. Without charge I answer all letters from those who wish advice on this most important subject; and furthermore I send two bottles free of Dr. Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon in this way any lady may assure herself of its great curative qualities before going to the expense of buying from the drug store.

Dr. Marchisi: Dear Sir—Ten years ago I saw your advertisement in one of our papers, and learned that I could be cured, so I procured one bottle of your Catholicon. In one week I was so much improved that I continued taking it, and it brought me safely through the "change of life" without an ache or pain of any kind. I have been buying and recommending it for the past ten years. Yours, etc.,

All the Car Works of Detroit Consolidated Into One Company.

Chicago, July 21.—The subscription list of the new Michigan-Peninsular Car company was closed at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The new corporation is a consolidation of the Michigan Car Co., the Peninsular Car Co., the Detroit Car Wheel Co., the Michigan Forge and Iron Co. and the Detroit Pipe and Foundry Co., and is capitalized at $8,000,000. One million of this amount has been reserved to provide for future enlargement of the plant, and nearly all of the remainder has been taken during the past two weeks.

Gen. Russell A. Alger is president of the company, and says that it is proposed to enlarge the business as fast as possible, and that eventually the company may enter the field now monopolized by the Pullman company. Their plant is located in Detroit, and as their machinery and buildings are of the most approved pattern they expect in a short time to furnish a large proportion of the rolling stock of the country.

DO YOU WANT THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN SUNDAY?

We are interested in getting a thorough expression of this town and vicinity on this important question. To every reader of this paper who will send us a postal card with "Yes" or "No" and their name and address, we will send, free, a handsome book, "The Way to Win," telling about the rapid increase in real estate values in Chicago. Address Jas. E. & Robt. L. McElroy, Chamber of Commerce, Chicago.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The late Dom Pedro, ex-emperor of Brazil, had many scientific tastes, and was an enthusiastic student of natural history.

Herr Emanuel Lasker, the great chess player, who recently defeated Mr. Blackburne, the English champion, is only 24 years of age and looks even younger.

Miss Ella L. Knowles, the people's party nominee for attorney general in Montana, is a New Hampshire girl who graduated at a Maine college in 1884, and is now one of the most successful and prosperous lawyers in Helena.

Speaking of Robert Lincoln O'Brien, who has just been appointed Mr. Cleveland's private secretary, the Boston Transcript says: "Stalwart in health and statue, modest in bearing and discreet in judgment, he is well fitted for the post and all its possibilities."

Church circles in Ohio have been somewhat excited over the recent profession of the Catholic faith by Mrs. Belamy Storer, wife of a Cincinnati congressman, sister of the late Judge Nicholas Longworth, and niece of Rufus King, with whom she studied law.

Gen. Weaver can make a good stump speech and when in congress he did some excellent work as a tariff reformer. He gained wide reputation while in the house for his obstruction tactics and as an objector he was hardly inferior to Holman. Just before he quitted Washington he wrote a book on the decline of the republic.

When Mr. Adlai Stevenson visited Chicago a few days ago he was quartered in parlors V and W of the Palmer house. To a reporter who found him in parlor W Mr. Stevenson said: "This will always be the room, when it is possible, to which I will be assigned when I am in Chicago. It was in this room, after the nomination, that the delegates and their friends came to shake hands with me."

The bright particular star of Mme. Marchesi's annual concert in Paris of her pupils this season was Mlle. Susanne Adams, of Boston, whose high soprano is said to have notes that ring like a trumpet and others that are as sweet as the tones of a flute. It is a pity that Miss Adams has Frenchified her good old Biblical name, which has long been celebrated in song, and which a generation ago was a favorite appellation for New England girls.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 201,790 bus and at five other western points 484,368 bus aggregate 686,567 bus. On the same Thursday in 1891 the receipts were 952,879 bus, with only 76,969 bus of northwestern wheat.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were wheat 90,229 bus and flour to an aggregate of 370,000 bus. Exports of corn 50,016 bus and of oats 11,730 bus.

English markets open firm, but dull and unchanged.

Wheat Crops Abroad and at Home.

Our extracts from Beerbohm seem to justify the following statement. That the crop in the United Kingdom will be deficient, as compared with last year, both on account of decreased area and of lower condition. Beerbohm has heretofore estimated the decrease at 8,000,000 bushels. Theerop in France promises an average yield. Quality not determined yet. Austria Hungary deficient in quality and expected also in qauntity. Germany average. Russia unsettled. Opinion prevails that Russian exportations will not more than equal the probable falling off from India. Against all this may be stated that stocks in England and on the continent are now above average.

How much can this country be counted on for export? Two or three weeks since the agriculturists in the wheat pits and editorial rooms had raised a crop of 550,000,000 to 565,000,000. Cincinnati and other authorities are now estimating about 500,000,000. Surplus, new and old, was placed at 200,000,000. It is less now. The price will depend upon farmers' sales. It is supposed there is less necessary than usual for pressing wheat on the market. That is the real point.

The Markets To-day.

The wheat market seems to be hardening every day. It is not so much, certainly, because of foreign markets, as they are not advancing. The demand for export is very moderate, and with exception of one day this week the clearances have been quite moderate. It is a fact that receipts do not equal last year, and no one expects they will. The early crop last year, higher prices and financial needs were all potent factors last year. But the movement of wheat far exceeds that of 1890, 1889, 1888 and 1887, and it is our opinion that, with continuance of good weather, and hay making out of the way, we shall get all the wheat we need before August 1st.

The hardening of values we attribute to local Chicago influences. They get but little bear news there, apparently, but storms in Dakota, and hot weather in Kansas are made much of, and then the shorts play their part with stop orders, etc.

Our statement of Bradstreets report of the visible supply in our circular of yesterday was from a private wire, and was wrong. Wheat this side of the Rockies was decreased 1,003,000 bus, and on the Pacific side 118,000.

Just before the close the market at Chicago suddenly broke off 1c, bus. and closed at lowest prices. Corn closed a little higher.

In New York, August and September wheat closed 1-8 to 1-4c lower. August corn 1-2c up and September unchanged.

In Chicago August and September wheat closed 1-4c lower. August corn 3-8c up and September unchanged. July oats unchanged.

In Toledo we have had about the usual trading in wheat and at rather better prices. Opening trades were at betetr rates and there was a further advance to 82 1-4c for July, 81 1-2c for August, and 82 for September, but before the close the market became weaker and part of the advance was lost. July closed at 81 3-4c, August at 80 3-4c, a gain on each of 1-4c, September at 81 1-4c steady.

On the call August wheat sold at 80 3-4c September at 81 3-8c to 81 1-4c, closing at 81 1-4@81 3-8c.

Cash wheat was less active. No. 2 soft sold at 81 3-4 to 82c and closed at 81 3-4c, a gain of 1-4c. No. 3 soft at 76 to 76c closing at 76c. August sold on the call at 75 1-2c. No. 4 soft, 72, rejected No. 1 at 71c, weavily at 71c. No. 2 red and white at 79c.

Corn, No. 2 at 50 1-2c, No. 3 at 49 1-2c to 49c, No. 4 at 44 1-2c. Oats No. 3 at 30c, No. 3 white at 33c. Rye No. 2 at 69c. August at 65 1-2c.

After the call the market was made firmer and October sold at $5.25 to $5.30 and closed at $5.30 bid.

BOARD OF REVISION

Inquiring Into the Charges Filed

Against Street Commissioner Bower—What Has Transpired Up to The Time of Going to Press.

The board of revision met this morning at the office of City Solicitor Read to investigate the charges that have been made against Street Commissioner Bower, and which were printed in the Bee. These charges are preferred in an affidavit made by Edward Kirkham, a former foreman, who alleges that at Bower's request he carried on his time book the names of John Leutner and James Kelly at the rate of 30 cents and 12 1-2 cents per hour, yet these men were not working for him.

The full board, consisting of Mayor Emmick, City Solicitor Read, and Frank Coleman, president of the council, was present at the meeting this morning. Mr. Bower was also on hand, and he was represented by Attorney J. H. Southard.

Mr. Kirkham was the first witness examined, and the entire morning was taken up in questioning him. He recited the same facts that the stated in his affidavit, and said that these men were placed on his books at Mr. Bower's request, though they did not work in his department, which was the Fifth and Ninth wards, and he did know the men. He kept them on his books from the first week he worked in 1890 until May, 1892.

He then produced his time-book, and nearly two hours was spent in reading off the entries for each week relating to these men.

The time checks for these men, he stated, were given to Mr. Bower, or turned in at the office with his book, while the checks for other men were given to the men in person.

Mr. Southard cross-examined Mr. Kirkham, but elicted nothing new. It is not known what the defense will be, if any is made, except when Mr. Southard asked one question it suggested a hint of the defense. He asked Kirkham if he did not know that these men were working in the sewer work of the street commissioner's department, and that their names were placed upon his roll because the other fund was low.

Mr. Kirkham said that he did not know this.

A man named James Kelly, a stone cutter, living at 128 Erie street, was subpoenaed before the board, but he was not the right man.

At 12 o'clock the board recessed until this afternoon when the examination of Mr. Kirkham and his books was resumed.

MAUMEE ROLLING MILL

Refuses to Pay the Scale of Wages Asked

By the Amalgamated Iron Workers' Association—What President Walbridge Says.

The Maumee Rolling Mill company have not, and from what President Walbridge says, will not pay the new scale of wages asked by the Amalgamated Iron Workers' association.

The scale is the same as that over which the trouble is at the Carnegie works at Homestead. The workers at the Maumee Rolling Mills will not work until the scale is signed.

There has been no shut-down, and yet the men are not working. The situation will probably remain as it is until the Homestead trouble is settled.

President H. S. Walbridge was seen this morning by a Bee relative to the matter. He said:

"We can do nothing at out mills until the Homestead matter is settled."

"Do the men refuse to work for last year's wages?"

"Oh, they belong to the organization, and I suppose must abide by the scale. We, however, cannot afford to give an advance on last year's wages."

"I supposed the protest of the men was against a reduction of wages."

"Well, it's not. An increase is asked in several cases. If you are going to say anything about the matter, I wish to refer you to the scale of wages we paid last year, and the wages we are still willing to pay.."

"These are," he said, handing the reporter the sujoined list, "some of the wages per day paid to our men at the rolling mill."

	Per Day.
Sheet rollers	$6 50
Sheet roughers	4 00
Sheet catchers	4 00
Sheet shearmen	5 00
Heater, sheet bar	8 00
Heater, help	2 25
Scrap furnace	7 00
Scrap furnace helper	2 50
Mill roller	15 00
Mill heaters	9 00
Mill roughers	6 00
Mill catchers	6 00
Mill heater's helper	2 25
Mill dragouts	1 25
Mill bundlers	2 00
Mill shearmen	2 25

"What will be the result, Mr. Walbridge, should the men refuse to accept the terms?"

"Indeed, I cannot say. You will see that we are paying good wages, and I may tell you that we cannot and will not afford to pay more."

Quite a number of the mill owners have signed the scale, but the majority, it appears, continue firm against it.

The most of our ailments come from a disordered liver, which Simmons Liver Regulator cures.

Tri-State BUSINESS COLLEGE

Melchior Bros., Cor. Madison and Summit

SHORTHAND.

As many students enrolled in this department of our school as in all the "departments" of some so-called business colleges. The reason is self-evident: J. W. Melchior's experience covers 8 years and Mrs. J. W. Melchior's 5 years, while teachers in other colleges have had no experience. Investigate Tri-State Business College.
